February 2019

January is over! Thank goodness! Hopefully, we can leave behind the freezing cold temperatures and the howling winds. It was good we didn't get all of the snow and ice that was predicted though. And, the groundhog did see his shadow! This means that we are in for an early spring. Right? The newspaper says below normal temperatures for February and who knows about the amount of precipitation. Guess, we will have to wait and see.

Our next meeting is February 14, the same day as Valentine's Day this year. It is fitting that our speaker will be a representative of the American Heart Association. Her name is Nicole Keil who is a registered nurse with Nebraska Medicine and does programs for the American Heart Association. She will give us information as to how we can have a healthy and happy heart.

We will be back at St. John's Lutheran Church fellowship hall for our February meeting. I hope everyone enjoyed seeing the library/community conference rooms last month. If you missed it, stop by the library anytime that they are open and I'm sure they would be happy show you around. Or just stop by and get a good book to read.

See you February 14! Stay warm!
